

Susan McAllister

Susan McAllister has been studying and practising JSJ for over 10 years. She began learning the art to help recover from an autoimmune condition called guillain barre syndrome. After working with friends for the first few years she now practises from home in a small way (koha only). JSJ in chch comprises an enthusiastic group of 5-6 learners who meet regularly. So, if Susan is not available, she can put you in touch of a competent group who are happy and capable of providing information or treatments.
